1. Claims 1- 11 and 23-25 remain for examination.
2. Claims 1-11 and 23-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Narad, U.S. Patent No. 5,287,503.
3. Claims 1 and 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bluhm. U.S. Patent No. 5,937,178.
4. The rejections are respectfully maintained for the reasons set forth in the previous office action incorporated herein by reference.
5. Applicant's arguments filed August 19, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argued that references do not teach a dependency producing instruction, which produces a result that the execution of a subsequent instruction depends on.

"Dependency" is described in the specification (par. 11) as reading by a subsequent instruction the result stored by a preceding instruction, as is well known in the art. (The use of predicated registers is given as an example of using registers to store a result.) The use of a result is not limited to a conditional execution of a subsequent instruction based on values stored in predicate registers. Furthermore, the teachings of the references can be applied to any type of registers including predicated registers, in which the values stored govern the execution of predicated instructions.
